TO: F. Wu
FR: L.O. Chua

I am pleased to inform you that the charter for the "Power Systems and Power Electronics" Technical Committee has finally been ratified by the CAS administrative committee, with you as its chairman. The feedback that I have received concerning the charter which you have carefully thought out has been highly favorable and I would like to congratulate you for your outstanding efforts. It only remains for you to get the ball rolling and to pick up enough momentum necessary to maintain the continued enthusiasm and support of the CAS society membership in general, and of your committee membership particular. Your first major task will be to contact the potential members in your proposed list and to invite them to become members. I will be able to furnish you with a few additional names from time to time. But it will be your responsibility to put together a high caliber committee by June 1, 1977 in order to meet the CAS Newsletter dateline, where the formal charter and complete membership roster must be published.

As chairman of this new technical committee, you are expected to attend the next ADCOM meeting at Phoenix on Sunday evening, April 24, (time and room to be announced at the registration area) and to present a preliminary progress report as well as future plans.

May I take this opportunity to thank you for agreeing to undertake this very difficult but most worthwhile task. As you are aware, the first year's activities are crucial to the viability of this committee. Your greatest immediate challenge therefore is to get the committee going with imaginative ideas, strong leadership, and lots of hard work. I will be glad to offer you with whatever help you need in the coming months. Good luck and best wishes!
